TO THE COUNTY COURT :

Gentlemen: It is proposed to ask you to license some more whisky holes in our county. We ask you to bear in mind the law. We tell you that the Attorney General of the State, and the Circuit Attorney of the District have given it as their opinion that a petition for that purpose must be signed by a majority of the tax-paying citizens of the town, not of the block or square. We also tell you that the law says no man who has ever been convicted of violating the Dram-shop Law shall have license; and also that no person who has ever employed about his dram-shop any person so violating that law shall have a license.

We tell you also that under no circumstances are you obliged to grant a license to any one to keep a dram-shop ; the power of granting or refusing lies entirely in your breasts, and of course you are responsible for all the results of whisky selling in the eye of God and man. We beseech you to grant no more license, but if you will do so, do it legally, and see that the names of all the tax-paying men and women are on the petition or accounted for.

TO THE FENIANS.

Hark, ye sons of Erin! Here ye That wail from o'er the sea! It comes from one to thee most dear, 'Tis thy mother's wail for thee, Calling home each wand'ring son, To wrest from chains dear Erin's Isle, Bidding them come with armor on And scatter the host of minious vile.

Hark, ye sons of Erin! here not ye
The roll of Freedom's drum?
And a call from dungeons dark?
"Make haste, make haste and come; Come equipped with gun and sabre To drive the tyrant from our sod; Come and strike with a will and vengeance In the name of the Lord our God."

Hark, ye sons of Erin! hear ye The wail of comrade's slain, Who gave their lives for Ireland's cause, Whose bones now bleach on Canada's plain Hear and heed your fallen comrades Who speak to you from the lowly grave; "O never, never leave that banner Till the shamrock green o'er Erin waves.' HORACE MANVILLE.
